As we cast our eyes upon these parties the rumored gold fields, we can not help thinking now bid home, friends and comforts "good bye," with the joyous expectation of soon returning, laden with the riches of this new Eldorado, will those far off fields of golden promise, prove the last resting place, without the hand of a friend to ow whereon rests the dying head, and no tears at the grave to their memory. We tell you friends it is better to "let well enough alone," tay where you are, and our word for it, you will find more "riches" in the soil of Cass county than in all the gold fields of Kansas.

Let is cover remain until all danger from frost has passed. Then remove the cover and straw and look for a splendid crop to follow soon. The rationale of this is; the frozen earth will not thaw untill late in the spring, if the pile remains; and when the earth is frozen the trees cannot bloom; when the earth is frozen the trees cannot bloom; but when the earth is frozen the trees cannot bloom; but when the danger is past, remove the covering, and the tree will bloom forth speedily. Try it, farmer friends."

IN-DOOR CULTURE OF FLOWERS.—
The number of flower plants which will thrire in the parlor or sitting room, in the winter, if well cared for, says an Eastern exchange, is very considerable. Some of the new varieties of pompone, or button chrysanthemum, are very beautiful; one dozen each of the best large varieties, and as many of the new sorts, will make up a good collection. The color of the last are more brilliant than the others. Some of them the flowers are not much largor than fine double daisies, but are produced in great profusion. The eachus tribe embraces a great many varieties which succeed well in very warm, dry rooms. The daphne odora requires but little care, and is one of the most highly odoriferous plants in cultivation. The diosma, heliotrope, sweet scented verbena, double sweet-scented violets, jasmines, perpetual pinks, sweet-scented violets, jasmine raniums, gardenia, or cape jasmine, lemon, ange, and many other plants, are highly prized their delightful odors.

Some of the varieties of aralea, acacias of many beautiful sorts, fuschias, myrtles, oleanders, pri-mulas, daisies, and many other tribes of plants, succeed very well in the parlor. The double stocks and wall-flowers are also suitable for indoors, and are very simple in their cultivation. These are

ON AN ENTIRELY ORIGINAL PRINCIPLE.
On this valuable invention we do away with all the objections ever made to the elevated Orea Stove. The pipe-file is placed in front of the oven, in fact, forming a part of the oven itself, and by this means we are enabled to regulate the baking more perfectly than in any other stove which was ever made. We have but one damper to it, which has three wings never liable to get out of order, and is also patented. By turning the damper one way, we force all the heat and flame under and up in the back of the oven, over the top, and thence down in front, until it enters into the flue, and passes off the curvature in the bottom of the oven, which requires the heat to descend, and hugs the oven during the circuit. Reversing the same damper, we totally exclude the entire heat from the oven, it all passing into the flue direct, without even reaching the oven. This simple and beautiful arrangement needs, we are certain, no further recommendation from us. The pipe being thus located, the stove can be set close to the wall or side of the room, with a small zinck or timed board hung on the wall; the pipe being so far from the wall as not to injure it; the stove, so set, will occupy less room than ordinary square or dividing fine stoves.

A number of these Stoves have been sold recently, and have given COOKING STOVE
